President's Message

I hope everyone had an enjoyable holiday and are geared up for 2019!

There are a couple of shows coming up that are close to home; CAND in Hamilton on January 26 & 27 and the Paris show is on February 3 plus Colonial Acres has 2 online auctions, one on January 27th, the other on February 1. I hope you plan on attending one or two, just to get the coin adrenaline flowing again (Car Pooling IS FUN).

I assume everyone has seen the new ten dollar notes with the controversial flaws as per the article in the Canadian Coin News.

Did anyone get any new additions to their collections over the last month? If so bring them in and share them with us!

We had an executive meeting on January 7, so stay tuned for all the announcements in the coming future.

We need auction pieces for the February auction and we still need an auction curator. As the Big Club Auction in March is coming fast and without a curator, it may not happen.

The ICC is also in need of a member or spouse to be the editor. All you are responsible for is to assemble the articles and E-mail it to the printer. Laura is finding it difficult to handle the Secretary Position and the Editor as well. We have a great club base so I think with the technology we have today an editor can be in the warm climate and still assemble the Newsletter and E-mail it back to the Printer. A successful club has a lot of active volunteers and do not sit back and let the same small group run the club.

There will be membership forms in the newsletter again this month. If you haven't already, please complete and submit the form with your renewal/new membership payment. This your last reminder, if you have not paid your dues and filled out a membership information sheet, you may not get your newsletter.

Lastly the election for President, Vice President and a couple of Directors will be the focus of the January meeting, so do some serious thinking about holding one of these positions and help take the Club into 2019 & 2020.

Article

During our November meeting and under restricted time, Randy shared some great points about why one should consider a position on the executive of the Ingersoll Coin Club. I have been very active in various committees over the years and personally saw the exact decline and practical extinction of a sport I love because of the kind of poor leadership and lack of involvement that Randy spoke of. I am fairly new to the club, initially starting to attend when I was voluntold to assist with one of the large auctions. That voluntold thing has come up a few more times over the last couple of years with my Dad being so involved with the club, but the more events and meetings I have attended, I have met great people, had fun and caught the collecting bug.

I did some research and looked at the membership guidelines for some of the other "Clubs" and Organizations" out there and compiled some examples of what the typical descriptions and outlines of duties would be for the President, Vice President, a Director and for the Club Members .

President-As President, you lead and motivate your club, ensuring that club members feel valuable, inspired and connected to each other.

Duties May Include

- Preside over club & executive meetings
- Appoint committee members & chairs
- Take a lead role in planning
- Administrative Duties
- Acting as a mediator & arbitrator
- Ceremonial Duties
- Representing the club to outside parties

Vice President-The main duty of the Vice President is to assist the President and other Executive with performing their duties and effectively contribute to the operation of the club; be involved with the work and understand the procedures & policies. In our club the Vice President generally moves up to the position of President at the end of their term, so this is your opportunity to 'learn the ropes'.

Duties May Include

- Work with President to plan/invite/arrange special guests, speakers, topics for future meetings
- Attend Club/Community events
- Share information about club to boost membership
- Encourage members to be involved
- Attend monthly & executive meetings

Director-Contributes toward the success of the vision, goals and activities of the club.

Duties May Include

- Attend club & executive meetings
- Contribute to short and long term club plans
- Help determine causes for member loss/absences & how to improve
